

AP 7272 Administrative Professionals Participation in Collegial Consultation

1. Definition

Collegial Consultation: the process in which members of the college community take an active role in influencing the direction of the District.

2. Procedures for Participation

The following procedures are provided to enable meaningful participation by Administrative Professionals in the collegial consultation process:

- a. Participation by Administrative Professionals in collegial consultation will be facilitated primarily through the College's collegial consultation committee structure which is constituted to be representative of all employee groups in the District.
- b. The selection and appointment of Administrative Professionals to collegial consultation committees shall be done by the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) for collegial consultation groups that have been officially recognized as requiring participation.
- c. Administrative Professionals shall be provided the opportunity to participate in collegial consultation matters including policy and procedure development or recommendations for action outside of the College's standing committee structure as appropriate to ensure their recommendations receive reasonable consideration.
