CONFLICTING DIRECTIVES FROM LA COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

- Chancellor Eloy Oakley issued clear direction on March 20 regarding classes requiring technical machinery, specific work or lab environments, specialized software, or hands-on, applied instruction, saying “We strongly recommend that colleges work to sustain courses that directly support the essential infrastructure sectors.”
- Executive Order N-33-20 issued by Governor Newsom on March 19, 2020 identified essential critical infrastructure sectors that should continue operating to protect the health and well-being of all Californians.
- The State Public Health Officer designed a list of Essential Critical Infrastructure Workers, which included “Workers and instructors supporting academies and training facilities and courses for the purpose of graduating students and cadets that comprise the essential workforce for all identified critical sectors.”
- The state’s roadmap says “the following sectors, businesses, establishments, or activities, are not permitted to operate in the State of California at this time: Higher Education.”
- DPH orders limit the operation of educational institutions (including public and private k-12 schools, colleges, and universities) to “facilitating distance learning, providing meals for pick-up, or performing minimum basic operations, provided that Social (Physical) Distancing is practiced.”
- As a result, I asked Chancellor Oakley to step in!

CHANCELLOR OAKLEY'S REQUEST TO LA COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH

- He did – and requested that the DPH ensure clarity with regards to the Los Angeles County community colleges and the exceptions from the CCCCCO that the colleges continue with the instruction of students in programs that support the Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce, as delineated by Gov. Newsom.
- He assured LA County that community colleges in LA County can continue and that it is critical to the workforce needs of California that they do continue.
- He reaffirmed that he had contacted the Governor's Senior Advisor on Higher Education, Lande Ajose, and she confirmed that the career education programs that support the Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce continue to be included in the exceptions published in the Governor's directives and are allowed to continue so long as they implement the appropriate physical distancing protocols.

LA COUNTY RESPONSE

  - Saunas and Steam rooms
  - Nightclubs
  - Concert venues

- They have received numerous inquiries over the past several weeks requesting special exceptions to resume instruction for healthcare workers, first responders, and other roles in the essential workforce. How the State Public Health Officer's directives for higher education applied to these specific requests has not been completely clear, but with the change noted above, the State has provided greater clarity and higher education instruction for roles supporting critical essential infrastructure may proceed.
